6 Cossetting valuable art

PA-O2/CO2 gas analysers from Witt Gas Techniques are generally used to measure the Oxygen (O2) and the Carbon Dioxide (CO2) in packaging in the food industry. Now they have a new application, by helping to protect valuable works of art, historical objects and documents during storage. Avoiding contamination by insects and microbes is a constant challenge for anyone involved in storing works of art.

By placing an object or painting in a protective plastic bag and then applying a vacuum to the bag and flushing it with nitrogen, insects and microbes cannot survive. The analyser weighs 3kg and is very compact measuring 145mm (H) x 105mm (W) x 200mm (D).
